NEW PRODUCTION CONTRACT AWARDED FOR “OTHER THAN ARMY” HMMWVS

WARREN, Mich. – Friday, July 30, 2010 – The U.S. Army, today, announced the award of a follow-on HMMWV production contract to AM General Corporation. This procurement is for “Other than United States Army” customers. The initial award is for an undefinitized contract action (UCA) for the procurement of 2,526 vehicles for the Afghanistan National Army and Police forces. The systems are being purchased as part of a Foreign Material Sale (FMS) under the direction of the United States State Department. Funding actions are being worked from other customers to add approximately 350 to 400 additional vehicles to the contract after the initial award.

Initial contract obligation amounts can be found at:

The 2,526 HMMWVs sought under this UCA are required by the Afghanistan National Army and Afghanistan National Police. The President’s strategy for drawing down U.S. forces in 2011 heavily depends upon having an Afghanistan National Army and Police force that is trained and equipped to adequately assume and maintain national control to support U.S. and Afghanistan’s national strategies.

PEO CS & CSS directs and coordinates the efforts of four Project and 17 Product Managers in managing the life cycles of more than 350+ Army systems, including several Joint Service programs. Striving to be prepared for changes in missions, threats and technologies, PEO CS&CSS is committed to supporting the goals and performance of our Joint and expeditionary forces, ensuring the best possible products are available to support the current and future Warfighters.
